Challenge

About the challenge

According to a UNESCO report of September 2016, “India will be half a century late in achieving its universal education goals.” Hence, we will achieve universal primary education only by 2050.

THE CHALLENGE

India has 300 million children enrolled in school. About 150 million 5-10 year olds are in primary education; of which nearly 50% cannot read well. Inability of children to read at grade level hits India's poorest the hardest, leading to entrenched poverty in society. If all 5-10 year old children are reading for fun and for meaning, they do well in school and are prepared to bring positive change to all, leading to sustainability for the people and the planet.

What is the NASW code of ethics?

- ✓ All people have inherent worth and dignity. These include gays and lesbians, people of color, women, people who were older, people with disabilities, immigrants, and people with low incomes.
